When it comes to music photographers they don't get much greater than Terry O'Neill, Baron Wolman and David Montgomery who between them have shot everyone from The Beatles to Frank Sinatra to Amy Winehouse. And now the three photographers have come together for one hell of an exhibition of their works from over the years at Brompton Quarter Brasserie in Knightsbridge. The exhibition will start on 26th and will be kicking off with a VIP private view.

The works will also be available for sale. For more information click here.
